Coal Parley Is Again Broken Off Over Arbitration

Sudden Adjournment Comes After Five Hour Stormy Session—Miners Reject Operators' Proposal and Operators Vote Down Miners' Amendment.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 3.—A pall of gloom shrouded the anthracite region today. For the second time since the coal strike was called last September first, negotiations between miners and operators were broken off abruptly last night in a flare-up of bitterness.

Charging the operators with creating "as truly a lockout as ever existed in the history of American industry," John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, prepared to draw taut his line of battle in apparent expectation of a fight to a finish.

"We cannot now and will not later accept compulsory arbitration," said Lewis.

The operators, on their part accused Lewis of attempting to "impose his will upon us, our employes and the people of this country."

James Dewey, observer for the department of labor, at the ill-fated conference, left for Washington today to report to James J. Davis, secretary of labor, regarding the situation. Davis is expected to transmit the report to President Coolidge.

Adjourn Sine Die.

The sudden adjournment, "sine die," of the conference came after a five hour stormy session. The acrimony of debate was increased, it was learned today, when a letter from an unnamed contributor was introduced declaring that the American flag "had ever stood for arbitration." The miners, unalterably opposed to "arbitration," deeply resented the insinuation against their patriotism.

The operators submitted a new proposition, including a five year agreement providing for the right of either party, once each year, to make request of the board of conciliation (created under President Roosevelt) for revision of wages, investigation of the facts to be made by a commission of three persons to be appointed by Charles E. Hughes.

Miners Vote Down Plan.

The operators' plan included employment of accountants, and the right of appeal to use in case of disagreement as to the recommendations of the commission.

The miners voted down the plan.

The operators then moved for a resumption of work by the miners at the present wage scale until March 31, 1927, with the board of conciliation deciding terms of a new contract extending to August 31, 1930.

The miners offered an amendment extending the present wage scale to March 31, 1928, and including a modified "checkoff" system in the agreement.

The operators voted down the miners' amendment.

The miners moved that the joint scale committee be called. The operators voted against this.

Following the break up of the conference, Lewis said:

"Under the circumstances the mine workers could not but accept their decision to remain no longer in conference."

Lewis Blames Operators.

"We cannot and will not accept compulsory arbitration," Lewis said. "We do not propose to barter away for a mess of pottage the individual and inherent rights of the anthracite mine workers. Our people are anxious to work, but not at the price of their freedom and their manhood.

"The people must not forget that the anthracite controversy is no longer a strike. This has become a lockout on the part of the anthracite operating interests.

"We regret the breaking up of the conference. We are not responsible for its disintegration."

Inglis Blames Lewis.

W. W. Inglis, for the operators said:

"Mr. Lewis not only rejects arbitration, he rejects everything.

"Not only our own ingenuity but he thought of scores of earnest men have been devoted in a recent weeks to devising some formula that would meet Mr. Lewis's demands. Many others, outside of the industry, have made the same attempt, only to encounter the same objections on Mr. Lewis's part."

CONVICTED MURDERER DENIED NEW TRIAL

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Matthew Wasser of Buffalo, convicted of murder and awaiting death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison tomorrow night at 11 o'clock, was today denied a new trial by Justice Alonzo Hinkley. Newly discovered evidence was the basis of Wasser's appeal. Wasser was convicted in Niagara county of murder, first degree, for the fatal shooting of Howard Hull, in a holdup of the National Carbon plant in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

ONE CENT INCREASE IN GASOLINE AND OIL

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 3.—Prices of gasoline, Naphtha, refined oil and furnace oil in eleven mid-western states will be increased one cent a gallon, effective at the opening of business tomorrow, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced today.

The advance, it was stated, is due to recent increases in the price of crude oil.

Opposition to Surtax Schedule

Insurgent Republicans and Democrats Claim Wealthy Receive Greatest Benefit in Surtax Reduction—Want Revision of Rates on Large Incomes.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The bipartisan drive for early passage of the $352,000,000 tax reduction bill faced a stumbling block today in growing opposition against its surtax schedule, which applies to the wealthy taxpayers of America.

Although administration spokesmen and the Democratic leaders who united in sponsoring the senate finance committee's rates were confident their schedule would be adopted without change, a belligerent minority of both parties were demanding a revision of the rates applying to incomes above $100,000. The movement was led by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska; Couzens, Republican of Michigan; Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota; King, Democrat of Utah, and Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, who charged the bill in its present form would give from two to five times as much comparative relief to the wealthy classes as to the taxpayer of moderate income.

Senators Couzens and King both sponsored amendments raising the maximum surtax rate of 25 per cent and increasing the schedule gradually above the $100,000 income bracket. This was in direct conflict to the committee's commendation and the provision, enacted by the house, fixing the maximum surtax at 20 per cent on incomes of $100,000.

Opposition to the committee's schedule revealed that it would give the greatest percentage of reduction to incomes above $100,000. The committee's surtaxes, it was pointed out, would give a 32 per cent reduction in taxes on incomes over $100,000, a 17 per cent reduction to $50,000 incomes, and only a ten per cent reduction on $30,000 incomes. In actual cash reductions, the bill itself was attacked on the ground it also would give the greatest amount of relief to the higher brackets. The following table was cited by opponents, although it was drawn by Senator Smoot in explaining the measure:

Income, $10,000; present tax, $165; proposed tax, $101.26; reduction, $63.75.

Income, $30,000; present tax, $2,275; proposed tax, $1,778.75; reduction, $496.25.

Income, $50,000; present tax, $6,095; proposed tax, $4,878.75; reduction, $1,216.25.

Income, $100,000; present tax, $22,575; proposed tax, $16,058.75; reduction, $6,516.25.

Income, $200,000; present tax, $65,575; proposed tax, $41,058.75; reduction, $24,516.25.

Income, $500,000; present tax, $199,575; proposed tax, $116,058.75; reduction, $83,516.25.

Income, $1,000,000; present tax, $429,575; proposed tax, $241,058.75; reduction, $188,516.25.

All the figures were based on a married man's return, with $20,000 income admitted to be earned. This table, it was said, proved that the multi-millionaire, with an income of $1,000,000 had his tax almost cut in half while the small business man, with a $10,000 income received reduction of only thirty per cent. The isurgent Republicans and Democrats launched their fight to correct this alleged inconsistency.

Says Warriner Broke Up Parley

Lewis Alleges That Warriner Demanded His Pound of Flesh From the Other Operators—Inglis Denies Rift.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 3.—Anthracite miners and operators hurled new charges at each other's heads in statements today, with both sides vehemently disclaiming responsibility for the break up last night of the negotiations intended to end the hard coal strike.

John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers' union, declared the mine workers proposed "to protect their rights to a decent living whether it takes another month or another year of industrial struggle."

Lewis alleged that the anthracite conference broke up because Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the larger operators' committee, who was not on the negotiating committee, "demanded his pound of flesh from the other operators."

"We happen to know that a majority of the anthracite operators wish to settle the controversy and resume the production of coal," continued Lewis. "Included in that majority are some of the members of their negotiating committee. But they are powerless to act because Warriner dominates the situation so completely that his word is law among them. When he says 'there will be no settlement' they must obey their master's voice."

W. W. Inglis, spokesman for the operators, said the mine owners planned to appeal directly to the miners probably through the press and an advertising campaign to present the operators' position.

"We are not ignoring the union," Inglis said, "but simply want to inform our employes of our attitude."

Inglis denied there was any "rift" in the ranks of the operators.

France Arranged Postponement of League Session

According to Advices Reaching Here Because She is Engaged in Two Wars—American Government Will Mark Time.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Official postponement of the first session of the League of Nations' disarmament conference, originally set for February 15, was followed here today by a distinct feeling of skepticism toward the whole project.

The fact that the powers have failed to set a definite date for the meeting, following the abandonment of February 15, has served to heighten the doubt concerning the conference that has been felt here from the first.

There have been reports from abroad that the postponement would be only until March 15 or April 15, but according to confidential information reaching Washington, there is no more assurance that France and her allies will be ready to gather around the table on those dates than they were in February. Although five nations signed the request for a postponement, it really was arranged by France, according to these advices.

The chief reason for the postponement, according to inner diplomatic circles, is that France was unwilling to sit in a conference that certainly will result in a demand for a reduction of France's armies at a time when she is engaged in conducting two wars—against the Riffs in Morocco and against the Syrians in their own country.

President Coolidge informed callers at the White House that he regretted the postponement. The regret is generally shared by those administration officials who have been the most consistent advocates of disarmameit, but the feeling prevails that it is none of America's business.

France rejected every overture to come to Washington, and the league, desirous of enhancing its prestige, sought to "grab" the honor of staging the conference, as it is termed privately here.

Now, in the opinion of the president and his advisers, America fears that European jealousies and political rivalries would operate to prevent a successful conference, are being amply borne-out.

Urges Revival of Whipping Post

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Revival of the whipping post in this state to check the crime wave was urged by Assemblyman Cuvillier, from the floor of the lower house today.

"I believe the quickest way to stamp out crime is to revive the old time whipping post," Cuvillier said.

"Would you recommend the whipping post for violators of the Volstead law?" asked Assemblyman Jenks, Republican of Broome, father of the dry bill now before the Assembly.

"It depends," Cuvillier replied, "on whether you deferentiate between the fellow who sells it and the fellow who drinks it. Some who sell the poison today should not only be whipped but electrocuted because the stuff they sell is nothing but a quick death."

"So long," he said, "as persons are permitted to peddle poison liquor without any interference by the state, we probably will have a crime wave.

"Does the gentleman know that in his own county of Broome there were more jail sentences, in proportion for drunkenness, than in any other county in the state?" asked Cuvillier of Jenks.

"Yes," replied Jenks, "we pick them up and I wouldn't advise the gentleman from New York to visit the county."

Phelps Would Fine Non-Voter

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Citizens of New York State who fail to vote on election day, unless they are ill or out of the state, would be subject to a fine, under a bill introduced today in the Legislature by Assemblyman Phelps, New York Republican.

"One of the worst conditions that confronts the state today is that year by year the proportion of citizens who vote falls off," said Phelps. "I believe it is time now to use some strenuous methods to compel every citizen to vote.

"We are continually hearing complaints that the right class of men are not elected to govern our state and cities. In many cases the people who make these complaints are found wanting when the registration books are opened.

"If my bill becomes law, those absentee voters will be compelled to pay for the possible of staying away from the polls."

Divorce Denied In Lasher Case

Testimony of Witnesses Sent to District Attorneys of Two Counties in Case Where Pan of Hot Tomatoes Were Thrown Over Alleged Co-Respondent.

Judge Ellis J. Staley has handed down a decision in the divorce action brought by Caroline W. Lasher against George C. Lasher of Ashokan. In a brief memorandum he denied the application of the plaintiff for a divorce and sustains the contention of the defendant, Mr. Lasher.

The Lasher divorce case was taken up in the Supreme court at the December term before Judge Staley and at the conclusion of plaintiff's case the jury was dismissed and the case continued before Judge Staley at Albany without a jury. John W. Eckert appeared for Mrs. Lasher.

During the trial here in December William D. Brinnier who appeared for Mr. Lasher attempted to procure the attendance of several witnesses who he informed the court were in a position to prove that detectives had been hired by Mrs. Lasher and that there was a plot of connivance involved in the case. The witnesses were subpoenaed and testified before the court at Albany. During the trial here in December charges of a frame-up were made by the defendant's counsel and at Albany all of the witnesses who were in the alleged frame-up were subpoenaed and testified before the court.

Mrs. Lasher during the trial here testified that she had not hired detectives to get evidence for the action which was then on trial and the people who she found at Ashokan Inn when she went there in company with friends one evening had not been sent there by her to get evidence against her husband who she testified she found in a compromising situation with a strange woman when she arrived at Ashokan. She testified that she had gone there to get some personal effects which she had left there. When she went into her room she found Mr. Lasher and a strange woman there. She ordered the woman to leave and when she refused, Mrs. Lasher testified that she had taken a stew-pan of tomatoes which she found on the back of the stove and routed her from the room.

At the conclusion of the trial of the action at Albany Judge Staley stated that he did not know what to do with the case, that there had been apparently more perjury injected into the case per square inch than in any other case which had been tried before him since he had been on the bench.

It was suggested by both attorney for the plaintiff and for the defendant that the minutes of the trial be copied and sent to the district attorney of Ulster and Albany counties for the consideration of the grand jury.

As the result of action which took place at the Ashokan Inn between one of the female "detectives" and others, an action for divorce was brought in Westchester county and a divorce granted. The testimony in this divorce proceeding was referred to frequently during the trial by Mr. Brinnier and several witnesses sworn on that trial were procured and testified before the court at Albany in the Lasher action.

Judge Staley in his memorandum says:

"I have concluded from a careful consideration of the evidence in this case, that the plaintiff has failed to sustain the allegation of adultery. The facts upon which she relies tend to the establishment of only an inference of adultery, but the evidence in rebuttal destroys its force and reveals a plot of connivance which may properly be characterized as unconscionable. Finding of facts and conclusions of law may be presented awarding judgment to the defendant with costs."

ANDERSON IS OFFICIALLY DISCHARGED FROM PAROLE

Albany, Feb. 3.—William H. Anderson, former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, who was convicted and served one year in Sing Sing prison, was officially discharged from his parole by the state parole board last Friday, it was revealed today at the state prison department.

Anderson was paroled on December 24, 1924. He was ordered to report once each month to the parole board and his parole time expired on December 24, 1925. He was not officially discharged until last Friday, however, because that was the first meeting of the parole board after his parole term had expired, according to officials of the prison department.

While Anderson's maximum sentence would not have expired until March 1 the prison officials said it long has been the custom to discharge the former prisoners when their parole time expires.

GOVERNOR WILL PARDON CONFEDERATE VETERAN

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 3.—Governor W. W. Brandon announced today he would parole John M. George, 84 year old confederate veteran, who has been sent to the Wetumpka convict mine to serve a six months sentence for violating the state dry law.

George, who has a young wife and a three year old son, denied he violated the law, saying he only carried a message concerning the delivery of some liquor for one of his relatives.

Hughes Com. To Submit Report On Water Power

Will Recommend Creation of New Bureau in State Conservation Department With Development Left Blank in Report at Capitol.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 3.—While Governor Smith today was preparing to answer the attacks made by the Republican leaders of the Legislature on his special measure dealing with water power, word reached the Capitol that the committee headed by Charles E. Hughes had reached an agreement on the recommendations it would make on water power.

The Hughes committee is planning the re-organization of the state government to carry out the Constitutional amendment adopted last fall. Its report is expected to be submitted to the governor and the law makers the week after next.

Governor Smith contends the state's vast water power resources should be developed by the state while the Republican leaders take the position that while the state should always retain control of these power sites the development should be made by private interests.

Substitute New Commission.

The Hughes committee, it was reported, will recommend that the present water power commission, composed of Republicans, be abolished and that a new bureau be created in the state conservation department to be composed of the conservation commissioner, the attorney general and the state superintendent of public works.

The Hughes committee, however, it was declared would not make any recommendation as to whether the power should be developed by the state or by private interest, leaving that policy to be defined by the Legislature.

In his special message to the Legislature, the governor recommended that the water power commission be abolished and that a state power authority be created in its place. The governor would clothe the proposed power authority with the duty of development the state's power resources.

Commission's Political Complexion.

If the proposal of the Hughes committee is carried out, the new water power commission will be made up of two Republicans and one Democrat. The conservation commissioner and the attorney general are Republicans, while the state superintendent of public works is a Democrat, appointed by the governor.

The governor repeatedly has stated he believed the water power commission, under the re-organization amendment, should be lodged in the conservation department, but he would like to have the Legislature provide for development of power by the state.

In connection with state development of power, Governor Smith declared that this policy was laid down by Mr. Hughes when the latter was chief executive of the state in 1907. If the Hughes committee does not recommend state development, Governor Smith will be sorely disappointed, it was declared today at the Capitol.

Proposes to Make Hypocrisy Crime

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 3. A bill which would make hypocrisy a crime was today introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Hackenberg, New York Democrat.

The measure defines as hypocrites "persons who solicit and collect funds for the purpose of promoting measures restraining the exercise of personal liberty.

"Somewhere at the end of the first month of the Legislature," said Hackenburg, "the blue-nosed, self appointed guardians of what morals ought to be, annually invade Albany and loudly proclaim themselves the saviors of human conscience.

"The blue Sunday brigade, the dry bootleggers auxiliary, and the dirty book busybodies mass their artillery for a periodic riot of useless propaganda. Their main object is dough, shekels, and easy living.

"My bill, if passed, will rid us of the pest of pests, the ding-ding reformers."

COUNTY DEMOCRATS TO HONOR SCHIRICK.

Auto Show Draws Big Crowds to Armory

Senator Lewis G. Stapley Formally Opened Big Show Tuesday Night—Speech and Entertainment Broadcast From Station W D B Z—New Entertainment Feature Thursday—Must Be Seen to Be Appreciated.

Kingston's 1926 automobile show opened its doors at the state armory Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and a fair crowd was present to look over the 1926 offerings of the motor car trade. During the evening the show was well attended. Senator Lewis G. Stapley officially opened the show at 7:30 o'clock. Senator Stapley is chairman of the joint legislative committee on motor vehicles and spoke on the accomplishments of the motor vehicle bureau since its organization. He referred to the decrease in death due to motor vehicles and laid this fact to the recent legislation which has been passed regulating motor car operation and operators.

Entertainment Features Daily.

During the afternoon and evening the famous Phonograph City Trio appeared and entertained with song. The entertainment portion of the program at the show this year is a feature second only to the cars on display. The acts are put on three times daily, in the afternoon at 3:30 and at 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening.

The speech of Mr. Stapley as well as the entertainment program and the orchestra selections are broadcast over the local broadcasting station WDBZ. Each afternoon and evening Zucca's orchestra renders a musical program.

Open 10 A. M. to 11 P. M.

Beginning today and for the remainder of the week the doors will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and will remain open until 11 o'clock in the evening, giving everyone ample opportunity to visit the show and inspect the various models on display.

Special Exhibits At Show Rooms.

Not all of the automobile dealers in the city are exhibiting at the show and those who are not at the show have special exhibits at their various show rooms during the week as well as those who do exhibit at the show.

There are fifteen automobile dealers exhibiting at the show. In addition to the automobile dealers there are also exhibits of automobile accessories, radios, tires and various electrical devices, oils and greases.

Exhibiting 24 Makes.

Exhibited by the fifteen dealers are twenty-four makes of cars and several different models of cars are shown by each of the dealers. The closed car, however, holds first position, in sharp contrast with the tendency a few years ago when the open car was the big feature and the closed car was the novelty. Beside the models shown at the automobile show the dealers exhibiting have arranged special displays at their salesrooms where models, which lack space at the armory prevents them showing there, are on display.

Oppenheimer Buys First Car.

Julius Oppenheimer of Oppenheimer Brothers, jewelers, has the distinction of not only purchasing the first Stutz car from Homer C. Kuhlmann, Inc., but the distinction of having bought the first car during "Display and Demonstration Week" which is being held by a number of local dealers from February 2 to 6. Mr. Kuhlmann but recently took the Stutz agency and has just received his demonstrator. The first automobile reported sold at the New York show this year was a Stutz and it was a Stutz which held the same honors at the Brooklyn show.

New Entertainment Act Thursday.

Today is the last day to hear the famous Phonograph City trio which scored such a big hit on the opening day. This trio was enjoyed by many radio fans when their program was broadcast over station WDBZ direct from the armory on Tuesday. Thursday there will be a change of entertainment when the "Sun Burned Americans" will feature. This is a colored act in song and dance which has scored a big success. Each day the acts are put on three times on an elevated platform on the armory floor which is visible from all portions of the armory. The platform has been elevated above the tops of the cars on display so that all may see, hear and enjoy the program.

Brown Offers Free Tube.

Harris Brown of the Brown Tire Company is offering a free tube with the purchase of every standard make of tire bought during the automobile show week. Each year during automobile show week he has offered this inducement to tire purchasers.

Not Trying to Enforce Dry Laws

Says Governor Smith When Expressing His View on Prohibition—Federal Government Should Provide Sufficient Number of Judges and Courts.

Albany, Feb. 3.—Governor Smith is more convinced than ever that the federal government is not trying to enforce the prohibition law.

The executive expressed his view on prohibition enforcement when asked to comment on a recent declaration by a supreme court judge that the state should aid the federal government in the enforcement of the 18th Amendment.

"There is no use beating about the bush," Governor Smith declared. "The federal government is not trying to enforce the prohibition law. I am more convinced than ever before that this is true."

"If the government wanted to see the prohibition law enforced why doesn't it provide a sufficient number of judges and courts to try the men who are charged with violating this law?"

The governor said that it is getting so now that when a man who is charged with violating the prohibition law is brought before some courts, the following conversation takes place:

"Where are you from" the judge asks.

"From Montreal," the man answers.

"Then go back to Montreal," the judge says, according to the governor, and the case is ended.

The governor said that in a recent report of the state police department, he noted that the word "deported" was marked after many arrests for violations of the prohibition law. He said that he found out that "deported" meant, in many instances, that the man had been told by the court to return to Montreal or some other Canadian city, where he said he lived.

Governor Smith said that if the federal government would prosecute every man arrested by the state authorities for violating the prohibition law "there probably wouldn't be so many violations."

75 Screen Actors Safely Landed

Indiana With 75 Motion Picture Actors Landed After All Night Fight—Believe Schooner Ecola Will Be Lost.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 3.—After an all night fight against a heavy storm off the Southern California coast, the ancient clipper ship Indiana landed safely here today with more than 75 motion picture actors aboard.

The screen actors, who narrowly escaped death when the old vessel approached the rocks off Point Vicente, were rushed to Los Angeles by automobile, suffering from cold and exposure.

The tug Pilot finally succeeded in getting a line aboard the Indiana and bringing it into the harbor after five attempts by two other tugs had failed.

Among the actors on the ship were Joseph Schilokraut, Mathew Betz and Clarence Burton.

Gale Still Raging.

San Francisco, Ca., Feb. 3.—The worst gale to strike the northern California coast in the last 25 years was still raging today.

Four vessels off Point Arena on the Mendocino coast, were battling mountainous seas with the possibility that the schooner Ecola, Portland to San Francisco with a cargo of lumber, would be lost.

The tankers Los Alamos and the Captain A. F. Lucas, and the steam schooner Noyo were standing by.

The Ecola is carrying a crew of 13 men and Mrs. Reiner Petterson, wife of the skipper.

A tug has been dispatched from San Francisco.

The Admiral Tirbe, carrying 150 passengers from Seattle to San Francisco and the Harry Luckenbach, with a cargo from Tacoma, were wallowing off Point Arena waiting for the storm to abate.

The Wilhelmina, 250 miles out, battling her way from Honolulu, radioed that she was battling a 76 mile gale.

Girl Scouts Are Proud of Results

Looking Back Along the Girl Scout Year of 1925 in Ulster County, Members of Organization Feel Something Has Been Accomplished.

Almost as soon as Miss Borton, now Mrs. Garfield became director of Girl Scouts of Ulster county, it was necessary to plan for a drive for funds to carry on the work. The members of the Council met and chose Judge Fowler as chairman of the fund committee and Louis S. Coe as his assistant. The sum of three thousand dollars was the amount of money needed to carry on the work for another year, and the Fund Campaign opened on February 15th, 1925, and ran for two weeks. The amount of money desired was raised by the towns in Ulster county, each one having a quota to fill. Kingston made hers in full. Mme. Galli-Curci contributed a substantial check to the cause.

The radio program broadcast by the Boy Scout Station WDBZ was materially helped by the address of Judge Clearwater who gave a most comprehensive and sympathetic address on the values of Scouting for girls. The entire program was most pleasing.

Fire Chief Murphy and his men gave practical demonstrations of fire prevention, and the chief gave a talk on the subject to the Girl Scouts of Kingston at the Central Fire Station. The girls who attended are still talking about what they learned from this visit.

The Girl Scouts always stand ready to do their bit, and when the Red Cross asked to have posters distributed for the raising of funds for the tornado sufferers the Kingston Scouts and their leaders responded nobly and the work was done efficiently.

Due to interest inspired by a talk given at the Ellenville Woman's Club by Commissioner Mrs. George Halliday, a troop was organized in Napanoch under the direction of Mrs. A. McCarthy of Yama Farms.

A training course for Scout captains was given for ten weeks in Kingston, under the direction of the county director, Miss Eleanor Borton. This training course was attended by Scout captains from Ellenville, High Falls, Stone Ridge, Kripplebush and Kingston. Owing to the lack of transportation facilities the captains from a greater distance could not attend, to their great regret. This training course was of great value to the captains in many ways, and a final examination proved to the satisfaction of all that the time had been profitably spent.

All through the county the Girl Scouts helped with services held on Decoration Day, May 30. The Kingston Girl Scouts marched in the parade, and were present at the services in the cemetery following the parade.

It would be quite impossible to go into lengthy detail of the activities of all the troops throughout the year, a director's hands are full keeping the spirit alive, a word of encouragement here, a little tangle to straighten out there, organizing a new troop in a new locality, and above all helping plan interesting work for all of the troops. The girls are young, their span of interest consequently short, and there must be something new and of value ready to offer when some other interest has served its turn. In June, at the close of the Scout year, there were twenty-three Scout troops in Ulster county, all of them active.

From July 1, till the last of August the girls are enjoying the healthful out of doors at beautiful Camp Wendy, located on The Borden Home Farm, property of Commissioner Mrs. George Halliday, Wallkill, N. Y. At camp the Scout training continues in home making, home nursing, child nursing, cooking, sewing and so on. The entire aim of the Scout organization is to make useful, decent, whole-souled home loving, women out of the coming generation.

One thing the council is more than proud of, and that is, never in their history has there been a deficit at the end of the Scout year.

Nutty Natural History

THE ARKANSAS WHIRPLESHUCK

The mountaineers of the Ozarks have found that this creature is an indispensable assistant in the hunt for the Purple Whirple. Having a keen nose, this beast can track a whirple to its den in less time than it takes to tell it, and proceed to capture it. If given a wienerwurst, it will shuck the hide off the whirple in three minutes, and then graciously present it to the attending mountaineers. With whirple hides selling at forty-two dollars, the mountaineers find the sport well worth the wienerwurst they are forced to expend.

We are here shown a whirpleshuck on the trail of a whirple, with his large peanut head and small pecan body. The ears are split navy beans and the feet are split peanuts. To the toothpick legs are fastened the shucking spurs made of cloves, which also furnish the tail.

Grange Endorses Gipsy Moth Work

Misunderstanding on Part of Some Property Owners Leads Stone Ridge Grange to Approve State Employes' Efforts in Ulster County.

Stone Ridge Grangers at their semi-monthly meeting held at the hall Monday evening discussed at length the gipsy moth menace which threatens fruit and forest trees east of the Hudson. The Conservation Commission at Albany in an endeavor to protect tree owners west of the Hudson, have established quarantine areas. A gang of 60 men are now searching Ulster county for evidence that the pest has become established here. In an effort to assist the state in this valuable piece of work, property owners are requested to cooperate in every manner. In order to save time and expense, the workers do not request permission from owners making their investigation. This has caused trouble and misunderstanding in some instances.

Feeling that the state is doing a most commendable piece of work and of direct benefit to all property owners and others as well, the Stone Ridge Grange unanimously voted to endorse the work and to cooperate in every possible manner to the end that the destructive gypsy moth may never become established in Ulster county.

WEST PARK.

West Park, Feb. 3.—The next meeting of the Ascension Church Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held with Mrs. Elmer Lund, Esopus, on Wednesday, beginning at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

The item in last Tuesday's paper about the departure of George Carter to England was based upon what was considered good authority. But a note from Mr. Carter states that after suffering for 12 days from a severe cold he had gone to Atlantic City for a vacation of three weeks to recuperate after which he will return to the Monastery.

Nearly all the ice houses in this vicinity were filled with fairly good ice in the past week. The Seeley ice house will be filled this week providing the ice holds good.

Mrs. Julian Burroughs and Miss Ursula Burroughs after a visit in Pleasantville, N. J., and Brooklyn and Scarsdale, N. Y., are expected home next Saturday.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. George F. Kaufman, Surrogate of Ulster County, notice is hereby given, according to law, to all persons having claims against Harriet N. Ask That Soft Drink Ordinance Be Adopted Here

Kingston Ministerial Association Asks Early Adoption of Proposed Ordinance—Thinks License Fee Should Be $2 Instead of $25—Other Matters Before Common Council.

Early in 1925 a proposed soft drink ordinance similar to that adopted in other cities was prepared by Corporation Counsel Jenkins at the request of the common council following public hearings that had been held in which considerable interest was shown. Since then the ordinance has lain dormant in the files of the common council.

At the last meeting of the Kingston Ministerial Association the matter was discussed and resolutions were adopted asking the common council to pass the proposed ordinance at an early date. Attention was called to the fact that the proposed ordinance had the hearty support of the Federation of Women's Clubs and other civic bodies. The association stated that the fee of $25 contained in the proposed ordinance would work a hardship and suggested that when the ordinance was adopted the fee for a soft drink license be made $2 a year.

The Rev. F. W. Moot, secretary of the Ministerial Association, was present at the council session and submitted a communication calling attention to the action taken by the association.

The request for the adoption of the soft drink ordinance was referred to the laws and rules committee.

A Question of Transfers.

A communication was read from the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company in which it was stated that it accepted the transfer of the Winne bus franchise and would abide by the terms. The company brought up the question of transfers and stated that as present worded it would be possible for the transfer privilege to be misused by a person obtaining one making a round trip ride for one fare. This the company planned to eliminate.

Alderman Everett said that the proposition of the trolley company to prevent the misuse of transfers was perfectly fair. It was decided to have the bus committee work with the trolley road in working out the transfer problem and also desirable changes in route of the bus lines.

The Bus Committee.

Alderman Smith introduced a resolution that a bus committee be appointed and President Dempsey named Aldermen DeGarmo, Haines, Hans, Neice and Smith.

Conferred With Trolley.

Alderman DeGarmo said that the railroad committee, of which he was chairman, had conferred with the trolley road officials and that they appeared to be very fair and were willing to adopt any changes in the bus line routes that would afford better service.

New Busses Coming.

It was brought out that some of the new busses ordered by the trolley road would arrive about the latter part of next week.

Sewers Constructed.

The board of public works reported seven sewers that had been constructed during 1925, and that 75 per cent of the cost was to be paid by the property owners benefited. The report was accepted and referred to the city assessor to lay the assessment against the properties benefited.

The sewers built and the amounts to be paid by the property owners are: Boulevard sewer, $3,906.36; Woodkill avenue sewer, $545.20; Smith Wall street and Winchell avenue sewer, $1,234.65; Manor Place sewer, $760.84; Reynolds street sewer, $361.69; Deyo street sewer, $34.22; Foxhall, Flatbush and Golden avenue sewer, $3,175.54.

Wants $5,000 Damages.

Melissa Ryan, who resides at Rightsburgh, through her attorney, Brunner, Caufield & Ellsworth, has a claim for damages against the city for $3,000 for alleged injuries sustained in a fall near McEntee and Orris streets. The fall was due, she claimed, to a defective sidewalk near a gas station on that corner.

Wants R. R. Improvements.

Alderman DeGarmo introduced a resolution that the railroad committee take up with the New York Central authorities the matter of making needed improvements to the approach and platform at the West Shore station here. He said that in other cities no larger than Kingston the railroad had laid concrete walks and platforms for the convenience of passengers boarding and alighting from railroad trains. The situation at the West Shore station here was a disgrace.

The resolution was adopted and referred to the railroad committee.

Wants Copy of Charter.

Alderman O'Reilly of the Ninth ward introduced a resolution that each alderman be given a copy of the city charter brought up to date.

This created a smile among the older members of the board for the city charter has been amended so many times that even the city officials are hard put to it when seeking to find anything in the charter. The original charter and its many amendments are on file in the city clerk's office but have never been collected together in one book which would would make it easy to find out what the charter really provides.

It is said that the work of bringing the charter up to date would prove expensive and would mean that the city would have to engage the services of a lawyer to make the compilation. There has been talk for several years of having the charter reprinted and revised but nothing had ever been done in the matter.

President Dempsey referred the resolution to Corporation Counsel James Jenkins.

Lay Pipe Under Railroad.

The water board sent in a request that the common council authorize the mayor to sign a contract with the Ulster & Delaware railroad to allow the water main on Elmendorf street to be run under the railroad tracks. The request was approved.

Wants Fences Removed.

Alderman Haines of the Second ward introduced a resolution that the mayor take up with the Ulster & Delaware railroad the matter of having the high board fences at Albany avenue and Elmendorf street taken down and replaced by four foot iron fences.

Mayor Block said that he had taken the matter up some time ago and did not believe that the railroad would object to the request. The fences were originally placed because boys throwing stones at the trains had injured a passenger some years ago and the railroad had been forced to pay damages. The fences were then erected.

To Confer With Trolley Road.

Alderman Smith introduced a resolution that the railroad committee act with the board of public works and confer with the trolley road in reference to the maintenance of the streets along the abandoned Colonial tracks.

Other Resolutions.

The following resolutions were introduced, and referred to the various boards:

By Alderman Smith—that arc light be placed at Van Deusen avenue and Hurley avenue; that light be placed at Court avenue and Merlina avenue.

By Alderman Radel—that Hunter street, between Hone and Ridge streets, be set aside for coasting.

By Alderman O'Reilly—that present incandescent light on Orchard street near No. 65 be discontinued and an arc light placed near No. 79.

Alderman Flannery—that incandescent light be placed on DeWitt street between the Whelan and Long properties; that incandescent light be placed on South Wall street between the Wallkill Valley tracks and the Rowe residence.

Alderman Haines—that signal light be placed at Thomas street and subway as one driving an auto could not see a trolley car coming out of the subway.

After auditing bills the council then adjourned for two weeks. All of the aldermen were present with the exception of Alderman Schlip of the Fourth ward who has been confined to his home with an injured leg since the first of the year.

Millionaire Wood Commits Suicide

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 3.—The body of William Madison Wood, 68, former president of the American Woolen Company of Andover, Mass., probably will accompany Mrs. Wood when she leaves for Andover tomorrow, it was announced today.

Wood committed suicide in a lonely spot late yesterday after two years' worry over the death of his son, William Wood, Jr., had combined with continued ill-health to make life burdensome.

The millionaire left his hotel yesterday, according to his usual custom, with his valet and chauffeur for a ride. Leaving his automobile, he told them he wished to walk alone. A shot from his revolver was heard a few minutes later.

Postal Telegraph Improvements.

The Postal Telegraph and Commercial Cable Company is making extensive improvements to its local office in the Loughran building, 294 Fair street, opposite the Stuyvesant, of which Miss Ellen Wynkoop is the manager. The interior is being repainted, new furniture and modern desks placed, counters rearranged and a heater installed.

Oppenheimer Bros., Inc., Directors.

Society Favors Pasteurization

Ulster County Medical Society Wants Milk Pasteurized Until Dealers Can Produce Grade A and Certified Milk.

Pasteurization of milk was approved by the members of the Ulster County Medical Society at a special meeting to discuss pasteurization held Tuesday evening. Twenty-six members of the society were in attendance but only seventeen votes were cast when the poll was taken on the resolution offered by Dr. J. R. Gillett.

The resolution offered by Dr. Gillett was to the effect that the Ulster County Medical Society does not endorse the resolution of the Board of Health in regard to pasteurization of milk in the city of Kingston. The motion was seconded by Dr. A. A. Stern. The motion was lost by a vote of 5 to 12, nine members not voting.

Preceding the motion offered by Dr. Gillett there was a motion carried and offered by Dr. E. E. Norwood that discussion be limited to five minutes each. The discussion lasted over two and a half hours. By invitation a representative of the Dairymen's Improvement Association of Ithaca was present and expressed his views, on the tuberculin testing of cattle.

Miss B. Eleanor Easton, county bacteriologist, and her assistant, Miss Ronk, also were present and expressed their opinions.

In the discussion there were many arguments pro and con by the members, but the final vote found a number lacking in determining which side of the issue they would support. Nine of the members did not vote. Following the vote approving pasteurization in Kingston, Dr. Snyder offered the following resolution which was seconded and approved. "The sense of the Ulster County Medical Society that all milk but Grade A and certified be pasteurized, until such a time that the dealers can produce Grade A and certified milk, and this time be set by the board of health and not by the dealers."

The meeting was held at McCabe's Restaurant and was in response to a suggestion of Mayor Block that before the health board took action on the recommendation of Dr. Daniel Connelly and the milk committee that milk used in the city be pasteurized, that the society pass its opinion as to pasteurization.

The meeting was opened by the President, Dr. Day, who presented the society with a gavel. Standing committees for the year were named as follows:

Committee on legislation: E. E. Norwood, chairman, O. D. B. Ingalls and John G. O'Leary.

Committee on public health: W. J. Cranston, chairman; A. G. Gates and W. S. Bush of Stone Ridge.

The report of the treasurer showed there was a substantial balance in the treasury and that the society was flourishing.

During the evening a motion was offered by Dr. A. A. Stern and seconded by Dr. Mark O'Meara that the committee minora and the standing committees arrange with the State Department of Public Education to give a series of post graduate lectures on obstetics at Kingston early in the spring, of 1926 for physicians of the city and surrounding towns and also of Greene county.

Arrest Leader Of Lisbon Revolt

Colonel Esteves has been arrested. He was captured as he was leading an assault of his followers upon the Caserne Campolide.

Government troops have restored order.

No announcement has yet been made of casualties, but it is believed they were light, if any.

The uprising is believed to be the aftermath of the recent counterfeiting plot which was uncovered here.

A number of prominent persons, arrested in connection with the counterfeiting plot, are imprisoned in the Campolide and it is believed that the revolt was planned in an attempt to free them, inasmuch as the first attack was made upon the Campolide.

Four army officers and one civilian, alleged to have been the ringleaders of the insurrection, have been arrested.

ULSTER COUNTY UNION TO CELEBRATE TONIGHT

The Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union will celebrate the forty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Christian Endeavor movement by the Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, with a supper in the chapel of the Fair Street Reformed Church which will be followed by an address by the Rev. George W. Rockwell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Catskill. It is expected that every society in the union will be represented at the supper and meeting.

Minstrel at East Kingston.

The annual minstrel show for the benefit of St. Colman's Church will be given at the church hall at East Kingston on Saturday evening, February 6, at 8:15. Dancing, for which good music has been engaged, will follow the show. Acker's bus will leave the central post office at 7:30 that evening to convey those from this city wishing to attend.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 3, 1926.

The Christian Missionary building in New York, which is to have 65 stories, will be 800 feet in height, eight feet higher than even the Woolworth building. And it is otherwise to be a record-breaker, for it will have under one roof a church and a bank as well as a hotel of 4,500 rooms.

Another abuse of public ownership has been shown up in connection with the Municipal Railway of San Francisco. It is the granting of free rides at the expense of the taxpayers who own the railway. Some weeks ago it was charged in the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco that more than a thousand people were riding free on the railway every day. An investigation was ordered, and now comes an official report from the superintendent of the railway that during the month of November, 43,523 free rides were given in the name of the city, or more than 1,400 a day. The explanation was made that most of those transported free were charitable workers, policemen, city employes, and wounded soldiers. Where free rides are given on privately owned lines the expense is usually paid by civic and charitable organizations. But on the municipal roads it comes with the rest, out of the taxpayer's pocket.

THE FIRST PIPE-SMOKING.

Aiming at the promotion of the industry, "tobacco week" also produced discussion in some respects fruitful. It gave tongue to both the lovers and haters of the weed. It furnished occasion for both those who deplore the cigarette habit and for those who admire Vice-President Dawes and Premier Baldwin of England the more because they go on serenely puffing their brier pipes notwithstanding the disapproval of the industrious reformers. And it brought to light historical facts of interest. One of these, perhaps the first record of the white man's sight of pipe smoking, taken from Sir John Hawkins's account of his second voyage (1564-5), reads quaintly as follows:

The Floridians when they travel have a kinde of herbe dryed, which with a cane, and an earthen cup in the end, with fire and the dryed herbs put together, do smoke through the cane the smoke thereof, which smoke satisfieth their hunger, and therewith they live foure or five days without meat or drinke.

It is of further historical interest to recall that Sir John Hawkins, British slave trader, took note of this strange custom of the Florida Indians after he had landed at the Spanish settlement of St. Augustine the first of negro slaves from Africa to be caused to set foot on American soil—forty-odd years before a Dutch ship put ashore at Jamestown, Va., (not settled until 1607) the first load of "negars" to be received by any English colony in America. There is closer connection between the two historical facts than might be supposed, for slaves later imported were paid for, like other commodities, in tobacco.

WASHINGTON ON PROFANITY.

An old letter has been produced showing that General Washington sternly rebuked any soldier he heard swearing. Writing to his nephew in 1852, Park Holland, reported to have served as paymaster under Washington, is said to have related that at one time any soldier heard to utter an oath was sentenced to "dig up by the roots one of the pitchpine stumps." The order came from General Heath, "but," the writer is quoted, "we all knew Washington's abhorrence of the sin of profanity, and we knew well where it originated." It is further related "that once when an officer swore in his presence at dinner, Washington put down his untasted glass, rose and said: 'Gentlemen, when I invited you here it was my intention to have gentlemen only.' He then left the room, whereupon the offending officer said he would rather have been shot than deserve this rebuke from Washington. He declared that he would never swear again, others present said the same, and the habit was done away with among us before the close of the war."

Although it has a modern sound, both in phraseology and sentiment, this letter may be genuine. But it does not dispose of the authenticated instances of swearing on the part of Washington himself. It is quite possible that the peerless chieftain was the more inclined to rebuke profanity because, when sorely tried by blundering at crucial moments, he himself occasionally yielded to the temptation to give such emphasis to his expressions of indignation.

FACING THE OVERWEIGHT PROBLEM.

It is interesting to read of the various methods used in reducing weight.

Some folks cut down certain articles of diet, others take vigorous exercise, others again indulge in hot or steam baths, while others looking for an "easy" method, take extract of thyroid gland.

As a matter of fact every one of the above methods may be used in certain cases, but certainly all of them cannot be used in every case. Most people are overweight because they eat too much. There isn't any mystery as to the cause. And most overweight people can reduce their weight by the simple method of cutting down their food by about twenty-five per cent.

Of course some foods put on weight more rapidly than others, such as potatoes, bread, or other starchy foods, but as a matter of fact every form of food, even meat, eggs, and cereals, which are known as repair foods, also have a certain amount of starch and fat in them, and can put on fat after they have done their regular work of repairing tissues.

One of the dangerous things now popular with our young women is the effort to keep thin, slender as it is called.

This is a great mistake, as growing girls and boys, even up to twenty years of age, should not attempt to reduce weight. Reducing weight at this age impairs the vitality and may keep them below par ever afterwards. They have interfered with Nature at the growing period. Another thing to remember is that the weight in some folks is due to glandular disturbance, and efforts at reducing by undereating or by severe exercise, will not give results. These cases are safely handled by the physician by means of glandular extract, and brilliant results frequently obtained.

The trouble with these cases is that the amount of heat they manufacture does not burn up the tissues as in normal people, and the extract increases heat production.

However the use of extracts in the ordinary case caused by overeating and underexercising, is most unwise, and sometimes interferes with the action of the heart.

No one needs to be much overweight if they figure out whether their overweight is their own fault, or due to a glandular disturbances, and begin treatment accordingly.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

(Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

Horace Greeley, the great American journalist, was born in Amherst, New Hampshire, February 3, 1811. On both sides his ancestors were of Scotch-Irish origin, but had been settled in New England for some generations.

Though physically a weak child, his intellect was strong, and when near his tenth year his father removed to Vermont, the boy took with him the reputation of a mental prodigy; so, with little schooling and much reading, he was thought when fourteen to be a fit apprentice to the printer of the "Northern Spectator" in Poultney, Vermont.

His parents removed to Erie, Pennsylvania, and Horace visited them twice, walking nearly the entire distance. After the failure of the "Northern Spectator," young Greeley joined his parents, worked on their farm, and sought such employment in nearby printing offices as he could obtain.

After this desultory practice of his art he came to New York city on August 17, 1831, with $10 in his pocket, and so rustic in dress and manners as to fall under suspicion of being a runaway apprentice. Later in life, at least, his face and figure would have lent distinction to the utmost elegance of style; but his dress was so careless as to become one of his distinguishing features as a public character.

After eighteen months of dubious success in New York as a journeyman, in his twenty-first year, he joined Francis V. Story, a fellow-printer, in establishing a modern printing office, and January, 1833, printed the "Morning Post," the first penny daily newspaper ever published. It continued only three weeks.

His partner was drowned in July, 1833, and Jonas Winchester took his place. The new firm on March 22, 1834, issued the "New Yorker," a literary weekly. The paper reached a circulation of nine thousand, and continued seven years.

In 1840 Mr. Greeley edited and published the "Log Cabin," a campaign paper that obtained a circulation of eighty thousand copies, and brought him a reputation as a political writer, and active participation in politics with the Whig leaders, Governor William H. Seward and Thurlow Weed.

On April 10, 1841, Mr. Greeley issued the first number of the "New York Tribune," as a Whig daily of independent spirit. In the fall of that year the "Weekly Tribune" was issued.

Mr. Greeley formed a partnership with Thomas McElrath, and from that time until his death was identified with the "New York Tribune."

In 1848 Mr. Greeley was elected to Congress, but failed to impress his constituents with the necessity of returning him a second time.

In 1851 he visited Europe, and was one of the jurors in the London World's Fair.

Neither his political friends, nor his party, nor the causes he espoused, could hold him to a course of partisan loyalty contrary to his own convictions of right and duty. As a member of the Seward-Weed-Greeley "triumvirate," he was often a thorn in the flesh of the senior members; his letter of November 11, 1854, dissolving "the political firm," being one of the frankest documents in the history of American politics.

He opposed the Civil War, believing it better to let the states secede if they wanted to do so. He occasionally embarrassed President Lincoln, but on the whole, his influence for the Union cause was powerful; but when the war was over, he advocated general amnesty, and finally as an object lesson went on the bail bond of Jefferson Davis. In this act he lost the support of his most ardent anti-slavery admirers.

Having further alienated the Republican party by his general attitude in reconstruction matters, he became the logical candidate for the Presidency. In 1872, of the Democrats at Baltimore, and the Liberal Republicans at Cincinnati, in opposition to a second term for General Grant, but was defeated in the general election. The strain of electioneering and the death of his wife brought on an illness of which he died a few weeks later, November 29, 1872.

A bronze statue graces the portal of the new "Tribune" office, and another stands in the angle made by Broadway and Sixth avenue, appropriately named "Greeley Square," after the man who was second to no other citizen in establishing the intellectual ascendency of the Metropolis.

Girl Scouts at Farmers' Week

Farmers' Week at New York State College of Agriculture Recognizes Value of Girl Scout Activities.

The New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, has incorporated in their regular program of activities for Farmers' Week a very comprehensive program for a Girl Scout Institute.

The State College has definitely in mind the small village communities and goes on to say—through Ralph A. Felton of the Department of Social Organization: "I have been in Extension work for some time and my observation leads me to believe that the girls in the small villages need Scouting more than in the cities or the open country. There is usually some well trained woman in each of these small villages, who could take charge of the girls and organize a troop, but they need the very training which we plan to give here in February."

The entire program is arranged in the form of a school or an institute. The objective will be teaching rather than simply giving entertaining lectures. Following is an outline of the lectures to be presented.

There is no tuition fee for this course, the only expenses involved are transportation and lodging. The cost of the entire trip ought not to exceed thirty dollars.

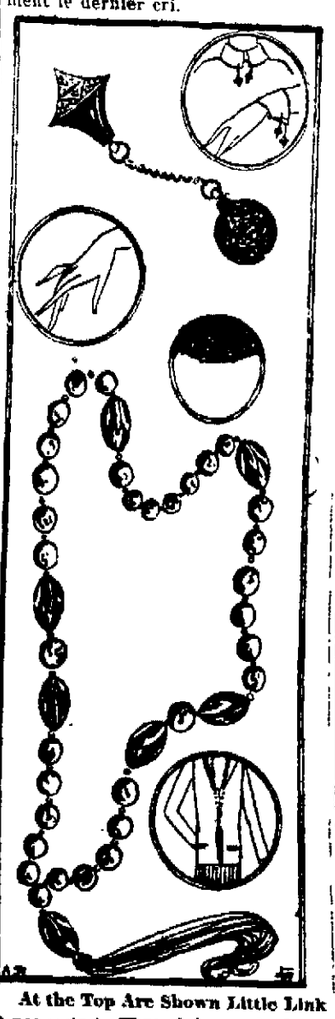
Boyish Bobs, Perfumes and Parisian Vanities Appeal but No Longer Startle Americans.

It has come to pass that most of the haute couture have added novelty jewelry and perfumes to their wares. Many more include hats and scarfs and not a few lingerie as well. The ultra smart women keep abreast of the mode in perfumes, as well as in everything else, and curiously enough certain scents which are regarded highly in America are practically unknown here, even though made in France. One well known perfume, which was enjoying a tremendous vogue in America, could not be purchased here, because it was made for export use only. Other perfumes which the real Parisienne affects are practically unknown by us. Certainly one must be delicately perfumed and whether one prefers to select a scent and use it so that it becomes eventually identified with the wearer, or to change her perfume with the mode is for individual decision. The Parisienne seemingly uses the perfume which is at the moment le dernier cri.



At the Top Are Shown Little Link Ornaments to Thread Through Turnover Collar and Cuffs of Tailored Spring Frocks. The Chain of Silver Links Together Two Pagoda-Shaped Knobs With Black Bases and Tops Set With Brilliants. A Sunburst Effect Marks the Ring, in Pink Enamel and Cut Steel. The Necklace With Carved Wooden Beads Marking Off Intervals on Glass Ones is Likewise Designed for Wear With Tailored Frocks. In Green, It Is Finished With a Green Silk Tassel.

Whether it is that women in America use more makeup or women in Paris use less, the fact remains that one is no longer struck with the artificiality of the Parisienne. She is a past master at the art, so that it may be that we in America are more accustomed merely to "make up." There is no marked preference unless it be for powders which are dark in tone and give one a warmish tint instead of a rosy one or an interesting pallor. Nor do lips seem blatantly red, although, of course, the lipstick is part of the equipment of every woman of fashion as well as many who are not. It goes without saying that heads are bobbed in the slick boyish cut, often smartly uncovering the ears. The Parisienne apparently feels nothing but scorn for the woman who is unbobbed.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by Mary Graham Bonner

MAKE-BELIEVE DENTIST

Little Daddy Fenwick awoke with a dreadful toothache. At once they knew he had eaten too much candy. There had been a candy grab bag and some of the other parents had treated little Daddy Fenwick too often. He had a very bad toothache, but it got better the minute Parent Robert said that Parent Billy Mahon would take care of it.

However, Parent Robert still said he must go. Parent Robert had heard of many a toothache which had got better the minute a person suggested the dentist. Maybe he even remembered more than he realized! Maybe even Daddy Fenwick remembered when he had treated Robert in just the way he was now being treated. Somehow the phrase, "It's only for your own good, son," had a familiar sound.

"Yes, son, you must go," Parent Robert kept repeating. "Doctor Billy is a very kind man, and he won't hurt you. Besides, do you want to lose all your teeth and not be able to chew. Just suppose you never were able to eat anything but eggs and junket and oatmeal and milk all your life?"

Daddy Fenwick didn't think he'd ever mind anything if only he could escape going to Parent Doctor Billy now. He wished he could make some one else go to the dentist's in just this way, and somewhere in his thoughts he had a disagreeable feeling that he had. Yes, and that he had insisted in just this fashion, and had said it was for a person's good to attend to the teeth.

There were several other daddies and mothers waiting with their parents in Parent Doctor Billy's outer office. The outer office was filled with picture books—old picture books Daddy Fenwick had read, and other dull books he didn't care to see again.

"Now Open, Just a Little Wider."

There were no stories that looked interesting, and there were a great many booklets on the care of teeth which were filled with pictures showing teeth which had been neglected. Parent Sally had come with Daddy Fenwick and she, too, seemed a little nervous as they waited.

There came a buzzing sound from the inside room. Then there was quiet. And then they could hear Parent Doctor Billy saying:

"That will be all for today then. But you'll have to come next week. How about Wednesday at four o'clock, right after school, for an appointment?"

The door opened and Parent Doctor appeared in the doorway. He said goodby to little mother Kathleen Banks, who had been his last patient, while with one eye he looked over the patients in the waiting room.

Daddy Fenwick huddled down in his chair and hoped he wouldn't be noticed. But Doctor Billy had spotted him.

"Ah, come right along, Daddy Fenwick. You may come into the office now. Just so we can have a look and see what the trouble is."

Daddy Fenwick walked into the inside room. It was just the same as Daddy Mahon's office had always been except the case with the instruments was in front of the patient's chair.

Daddy Fenwick shivered.

"Now open, just a little wider," Doctor Billy said, after he had put the white cloth around Daddy Fenwick's neck.

"Oh dear, oh dear, this is too bad!"

"What-z-t—t-h-a-d?" asked Daddy Fenwick as well as he could with a large dab of cloth in his mouth.

But Parent Doctor Billy didn't seem to notice, for he went on talking and asking questions just as though Daddy Fenwick had nothing in his mouth to keep him from answering.

Then Doctor Billy put his foot on a bulb which started the sizzing machine going. He seemed to be starting to use it many times but never actually did. He merely poked all about Daddy Fenwick's mouth with one of his daddy's silver mirrors, and picked up instrument after instrument from the case as though each had some very particular purpose which was, in the end, a deep secret.

"Now," exclaimed Doctor Billy, as he pulled off the napkin from Daddy Fenwick's neck and pulled the dab of cloth out of his mouth, "take a little water."

"I think you may go now, but this evening before you go to bed take out the little pieces of cotton I've put in your sore teeth. I think your teeth will be all right by then. Glad you came before it got too bad. Your teeth aren't very strong. You'd better come back in three months."

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, Feb. 3.—The Rev. and Mrs. C. V. Bedford of Bloomington were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry West on Thursday afternoon last.

Lloyd LeFevre, who is employed at Albany, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph LeFevre, in this village.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Henry Hollman on James street on Thursday afternoon last. There was a good attendance and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent. The hostess served delicious refreshments during the afternoon.

Miss Helen E. White spent Saturday in Kingston with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark of Tilson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Myers of this village.

Progressive euchre was greatly enjoyed by a number of friends of Mrs. Alan S. Mackenzie at her home on Main street on Wednesday afternoon, January 27th. After playing ten games, which passed all too quickly, Mrs. Charles Ten Hagen, holder of the highest points, received a handsome leather purse and vanity case, while Mrs. Breridel of James street carried off a very attractive consolation prize. The hostess then served dainty refreshments, which were much enjoyed by all. At 5 o'clock the jolly crowd departed for their respective homes, voting Mrs. Mackenzie a royal hostess.

The Misses Helen Christman and Florence Brophy passed the Regents' examinations in the January test. Miss Helen has entered Kingston High School and Miss Florence has entered Moran's Business College at Kingston.

Mrs. William Delaney, who has been confined to her home with an attack of the grip, has recovered.

Miss May LeFever is enjoying a few weeks' vacation with her parents in Tonchkeepsie.

Several men from this village are employed at Rinnewater harvesting the ice for the Rinnewater Ice Company at Kingston.

Mrs. Charles Ten Hagen and Mrs. Harry Ten Hagen and little Donald spent Friday with Mrs. J. A. Lay in Kingston.

Several more bungalows are being erected on Rosendale Heights.

John Olley shot a large grey fox on Wednesday last, near the Alex Morgan property on the mountains.

Miss Alice Dutcher of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. George Hallman of this village.

The ladies of the Reformed Church will hold their next dominoe party at the home of Mrs. Otto Schmidt on Wednesday afternoon, February 3. Games will start at 2 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

Mrs. Mary Smith, who has been quite ill at her home in this village, is much improved at this writing.

A large bus load from this place attended the dance at Alligerville on Saturday evening.

Meet me at the Masquerade Ball February 8, at State Armory. Music by Maisenhelder's orchestra.—Advertisement.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

Farm Vigilance Service Adopted

Directors of Ulster County Farm Bureau Decide to Adopt State Federation Service as Part of County Program.

The monthly meeting of the Farm Bureau directors was held at the office on Monday at 1:30 p. m. Chairman Millard Davis, E. W. Hathaway, C. C. DuMond, Fred DuBois, W. J. Haviland and Robert J. Harder attended. Considerable discussion was held concerning the State Federation Farm Vigilance Service. The directors voted to adopt the work as a part of the Ulster County Farm Bureau program for 1926 and set aside a $50 fund for its support. The plan of the service is as follows:

Object: The object of the vigilance work is to reduce the amount of stealing of property of farm bureau members whose farms are posted with signs. This will be accomplished in two ways: (1) By offering rewards for arrest and conviction. (2) By thoroughly acquainting the public with the plan through all known publicity channels.

The vigilance work of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation will be headed by a state wide committee, the county work by a county wide committee which will cooperate with individual members whose farms are posted with signs provided by the Federation.

State Vigilance Committee: The State Vigilance Committee shall be appointed annually by the board of directors of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation. It shall act as a clearing house for state wide vigilance work. The policies adopted by the state committee shall be the ones followed in the state, subject to additions as the work progresses. The committee is composed of four farmer members, the chairman of which shall be a member of the board of directors of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation.

County Vigilance Committee: The County Vigilance Committee shall be composed of three or more members and shall be appointed annually by the County Farm Bureau Board of Directors for the purpose of—

1. Acting for the State Vigilance Committee in passing on the claims by individuals within their county for rewards offered by the New York State Farm Bureau Federation. All claims are to be presented to the County Farm Bureau Vigilance Committee which shall immediately decide on the worthiness of claims for rewards. If claims are acted upon favorably they will be paid immediately by the New York State Farm Bureau Federation. The judgment of the county committee in making rewards shall be final both as to individual rewards and as to claims by more than one individual for the same case.

2. County committees shall encourage the appointment of community vigilance project leaders in communities which are particularly interested, who shall work in cooperation with county committees.

Reward: The New York State Farm Bureau Federation will pay a reward of $25.00 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons guilty of grand larceny and $10.00 for information leading to arrest and conviction in cases of petty larceny when depredations are committed on the farms of farm bureau members, which are posted with the following sign:

Reward.

"A reward of $25.00 will be paid by the New York State Farm Bureau Federation to anyone for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons guilty of grand larceny on this property; $10.00 in cases of petty larceny. Effective January 1, 1926, to January 1, 1927. Member of New York State Farm Bureau Federation."

These signs will be on white sign cloth, 9x13 inches. The ink used will conform in color with that used on the Farm Bureau membership signs for the current year. The State Vigilance Committee recommends that each farmer purchase five signs or more so as to adequately post his farm.

Records: A careful record of persons to whom signs have been sold shall be kept in the county farm bureau office. This list shall be available at all times to the county and state vigilance committee.

Cooperation with Police Authorities: In accordance with an agreement with the central headquarters of the state police, meetings of county vigilance committees, state troopers and county sheriffs, shall be held in the state troopers barracks or at some other convenient place. If a canvass of the county vigilance committee make it advisable, smaller divisions of the state will be made for the convenience of the committees. These meetings will be for the purpose of establishing understandings and working out relationships with the police authorities.

For Raw Sore Throat

At the first sign of a raw, sore throat rub on a little Musterole with your fingers.

It goes right to the spot with a gentle tingle, lessens congestion, draws out soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It has all the strength of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

DOLLARS AND CENTS VALUE OF HUMAN BEING IS SOUGHT

Statistical Measure Based Upon Investment Man Represents and His Production Value.

New York.—The dollars and cents value of a human being's existence, taking into consideration the investment he represents and his commercial importance to the world, is being investigated by Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician of the Metropolitan Insurance company, here.

"A man's estimate of the value of his own life may fluctuate widely," said Doctor Dublin. "At one time, he may be willing to sacrifice all his worldly goods to save his skin, and at another time, as suicide statistics show, he may value his life at less than nothing. But his family and his business associates and the community at large all have a close interest in his existence, and it is sometimes necessary for courts and insurance companies to set a numerical estimate on the worth of a human life.

"The same methods that are used to evaluate manufacturing plants can be applied to the individual. We have to reckon the cost of installation, running expenses, and a sinking fund against the time of expiration. On the credit side of the account we have such items as current earnings, unpaid services rendered, participation in the upkeep of population, and so forth."

College Hobo Scorns All but Closed Cars

Boston.—"Windy Bill" they called him at Boston university and William Charles Woolfson of Malden has acquired that title because he travels on the wings of the wind whenever the spirit moves—which is often.

Bill is the college champion "hitchhiker," but if there is one thing that he won't do on the road, it's flag a flivver going uphill.

That's bad.

In 2,500 miles of hiking and "hitching" rides has Woolfson learned this, for he hits the road to every Boston university game and one time he trekked to New York just because a fellow-student said a certain show was good.

Bill is president of the Barnstormers' Dramatic club of the college of business administration and of the O. T. R., an organization of collegiate "hobos," and as president he gives this advice to hikers:

"If you want to get along while on the road never stop a flivver on a hill. A fellow trying to get his Lizzie up a hill has too much trouble to think of a passenger.

"I never ride in any but a closed car. There are plenty on the road."

Has Self Arrested as Drunk; Dies in Fire

Marshfield, Ore.—Fire which destroyed the Lakeside wooden city jail burned to death Fred Kuiju, a boy of twenty, who obtained too much moonshine while attending a dance and, at his own request, was placed in the jail until he hoped to recover.

Coroner Keizer, who investigated the affair believed that Kuiju was smoking and fired his bedding.

The jail burned before the fire was discovered. Kuiju was found in the middle of the ruins, with most of the bedding wrapped about his upper body. His legs were burned off to the knees and his arms were also burned to cinders.

Kuiju was said to have been drinking for the first time. His request of the night officer to put him away was verified by the sheriff, Willetts.

The young man was the oldest of a widowed family of seven, and the main support of the family ranch.

ZANE GREY'S "THE VANISHING AMERICAN"

RICHARD DIX
LOIS WILSON
NOAH BEERY
MALCOLM McGREGOR

PRESENTED BY
ADOLPH ZUKOR
JESSE L. LASKY

The screen's mighty tribute to the American Indian, first lord of the western continent.

—showing the parade of civilization from the first man and his mate down to the modern Indian.

—the Red Man's gradual eclipse before the irresistible sweep of white civilization.

—his final stand in the barren wastes of the far west—his retreat into the desert fastness marked by a trail of blood—

All against the gorgeous background of the chasms and gorges of northern Arizona.

Even Zane Grey's mastery of language could do scant justice to these awe-inspiring scenes.

With a cast of 10,000 Indians and 100 principals, "The Vanishing American" is the final epic of the fast-disappearing Red Man.

150 YEARS AGO

The Origin of the U. S. A.

By Jonathan A. Rawson, Jr.

"THE NEEDFUL" IN '76.

"We are in great want of the needful, pray God to send us a supply. Accounts respecting that dwindle to almost nothing; if you have it, I beg you will impart to us that want, or what shall we do, or rather what can we do?"

Thus wrote General Artemus Ward of the Revolutionary army to Continental Congress on February 3, 1776 "The needful" was gunpowder. How could the patriots carry on a war without powder? Not since the call to arms at Lexington and Concord had they possessed more than the scantiest supply. At Bunker Hill, the "embattled farmers" were forced to retreat only when all their powder was gone. In their siege of Boston from April 1775, to March, 1776, they were forced to remain on the defensive by the lack of this "needful," and even now in February, despite the utmost endeavors of the Continental Congress, the congresses of the separate colonies and the committees of safety, Washington still lacked sufficient powder to undertake an assault on the British in Boston.

Richard Smith, a member of Congress, wrote in his diary on January 16:

"A vessel is about to sail from Philadelphia with Produce for Bermudas to procure Powder and if it belongs to the King to seize it by Force. If there is none there, she is to go to New Orleans, Carthagena or a noted Port near Carthagena or elsewhere and if she cannot get Ammunition the Captain is to obtain hard money."

That is, go anywhere in the world for powder, with hard money as a second choice only.

While they were scouring the world for ready-made powder, the home folks were emptying their powder horns and sending their contributions to camp, erecting powder mills, and searching everywhere for earth from which they could make the saltpetre essential to powder making. Ships extended the treasure hunt to the open sea where they occasionally picked up an enemy craft and came away with a few tons of the needful which was hurried off to Washington by speedy expresses.

Great news came while General Ward was writing his appeal already quoted. A ship had just arrived from France with 60 tons of saltpetre, 13 tons of powder and 1,300 stand of firearms. France was not yet an ally, but here was assurance that even without a formal alliance France was to be a source of military supplies,—even including "the needful."

P. A. throws pipe-peeves for a loss

AND the bigger they are, the harder they fall, as Shakespeare or somebody said. You can prove this beyond question with a jimmy-pipe and a tidy red tin of Prince Albert. Any time. Anywhere. As a matter of fact, tackling pipe-grouches is P. A.'s regular business.

Cool and sweet and fragrant, P. A.'s wonderful smoke comes curling up the pipe-stem, filling your system with a new brand of pipe-pleasure. You smoke . . . and smile! For the first time in your life, you've found the one tobacco that scales to your blueprint of bliss.

Morning till midnight. Slow or fast. No matter how you feed it, P. A. never bites your tongue or parches your throat. Those important items were taken care of in the original plans by the Prince Albert process. That's why they call P. A. the friendly tobacco.

Right in your neighborhood is a store where they hand out jimmy-pipe joy in the familiar red tin. Take yourself there now and tell the man you want a tidy red tin of P. A. Learn from experience why millions call "P. A." the most important letters in the smoke-alphabet.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half pound tin humi- dors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Commission Also Threatens Tunney

Gene Tunney Joins Ranks of Heavyweights Who Pay No Attention To Board's Edicts—Berlenbach Fourth Possibility.

New York, Feb. 3.—Indications today were that the New York State Athletic Commission, self-elected dictator of all heavyweight championship controversies, may find itself master of none when the boys forget they are gentlemen and the title showdown comes, if ever. There happens to be a trio of men involved in the heavyweight championship situation and only three of them pay no attention to what the local board says or does

Gene Tunney, runner-up to the runner-up to the title, is the latest heavyweight to flout the commission which now threatens a non-renewal of his license. The young man, however, continues to bear up bravely in view of the fact that he does not want to fight here anyhow, unless his opponent is Jack Dempsey, which the board insists can not be

The rest of the story therefore, lacks popular interest as far as Tunney is concerned Having a title shot in the immediate offing, he wouldn't meet John L. Sullivan's coachman in a New York ring until after the championship matter is settled one way or the other

He made some sort of verbal agreement to box Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, here this month and it is this fact that has prompted the commission to issue its overt threats It seems that Tunney is perfectly willing to fight Sharkey verbally and the event will take place three days after Battling Nelson swallows a door knob

Our Mr. Dempsey, of course, has been out of balk here, so to speak ever since he broke with the commission socially over a question of etiquette having to do with whether a gentleman ever is justified in leaving another holding what is vulgarly known as "the bag"

He seems to be just as concerned as Tunney over the situation or whatever it is And the worst of it is that the commission seems to have run out of edicts Dempsey has just about depleted those in stock and is using them for padding underneath the band of his hat

Tunney of course, can point with pride to the fact that he signed to meet Harry Wills and nothing came of it. He knew that nothing would, both of these estimable citizens being imbued with the same ambition, to wit: a Dempsey match or nothing

As for Wills, he might be termed the commission's fair haired boy, if the writer wasn't a realist Yet Wills didn't hesitate to go over the commission's head in signing with Dempsey at Niles, Michigan, and would do so again if the opportunity offered, which probably it won't Wills isn't playing ball in New York either.

Meantime, the commission is taking care of a fourth possibility by driving Paul Berlenbach out of New York with an order to beat Mike McTigue all over again, just to make sure Berlenbach cannot fight here until he dallies with McTigue and he says there isn't a chance. This means that he, also, will soon be out of balk.

TETLEY MAY PLAY ON WESLEYAN VARSITY QUINTET.

Wilbur Tetley, former K. H. S football and basketball star, may be in the pivot position for the Wesleyan University varsity when it reopens its basketball season with a game with St. Stephen's quintet on Friday afternoon. If Tetley is successful in his examinations this week he will be promoted to the varsity quintet. Coach Lash greatly depending on this local man at the center berth for the coming match with the Saints.

As Captain Arthur Umpleby, high scorer of the team and the key man in the fast working offense of the Wesleyan team, will probably be out of the game because of injuries. Coach Lash is giving several outstanding players of the Freshmen and Sophomore teams a chance to make good on the varsity.

S. A. Five Trims Po'keepsie Five

After having been defeated by Hedding M. E in Kingston several weeks ago, the Salvation Army quintet went to Poughkeepsie Tuesday evening and trimmed the strong Reformed Church five, a team that has proven itself the master of the Hedding outfit in every match for the past three years. Captain Miller's men scoring their big upset by a 39 to 37 tally. The Red Shield lads' triumph makes the first match the Reformed team has lost on its own court in three years. This team is the recognized Sunday school champions of the Bridge City.

The match was one of those neck and neck affairs which each team clinging close to the other. With about three minutes to play the local aggregation was two points behind. One of the Red Shield team missed a long shot and DuBois followed it up, tieing up the score. When it began to look as if the match was going into an extra session Dan Joyce pulled a timely trick. From over half the distance of the floor the Kingston forward let a double drop between the rings and the Red Shields won the match. The score:

A Success Talk

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose income tax for last year breaks all records, said in a recent success talk:

"Every successful man has had some failures thrown behind the monument.

"Take courage, then! Persevere!

Newburgh Banks On KHS Winning

The Newburgh Academy basketball team, coach and fans in that vicinity are stressing great hopes that the Kingston High School quintet will prove a thorn in the side of the DUSO League leaders, Poughkeepsie High School, when the two rivals meet, Friday afternoon. If the Maroon and White squad is successful in felling the Bridge City warriors, Newburgh will be tied for first place and then it intends to trim Coach Kalloch's outfit. The Newburgh cohorts are of the opinion that the perplexities of the K. H. S. court will overbalance the Poughkeepsie team's superiority. The second place team is banking on the hopes that Poughkeepsie's snappy passwork will not be as effective as on an open court and most of its pet shots, which are made from the side will be impossible on the Kingston playground.

After K. H. S. has trimmed the Bridge City outfit the Newburgh team is depending on two slight advantages in its favor, to win them the DUSO crown. One is that Henry, lanky center of the Newburgh five is now eligible and the other that the deciding game will be played on Newburgh's court.

Alleged Body Stealer Arrested

Miami, Fla., Feb. 3.—A man whom police say they have positively identified as Frederick G. Beale, wanted in New York state for stealing a body, burning it and swindling a life insurance company out of $100,000 was arrested today. He is being held in the county jail awaiting extradition to Hancock, N. Y., where the alleged crime occurred last September.

According to police Beale insured himself for $100,000 then stole the body of James H. Davis from a grave in Riverview cemetery at Hancock, N. Y., placed the body in his car, set it afire and drove it over a cliff.

Following the disappearance of Beale, his wife collected the $100,000, according to the charges.

An investigation by the life insurance company led to doubts as to the death of Beale, and an investigation followed. He was indicted by the grand jury of Delaware county, New York, on October 21, and charged with the body stealing. Police all over the country have been searching for him since.

City detectives say he admitted his identity when they arrested him.

Detective Chief Guy Reeves wired to New York this morning asking the state police of Sidney, N. Y., to send extradition papers for Beale.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Feb. 3.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will serve a variety supper in the assembly room of the church this evening at 5:30 o'clock until all are served. Menu: Cream chicken, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, lima beans, celery, tea, coffee, biscuit, cake and pie. This supper will be served for a nominal sum.

A meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will be held Thursday afternoon, February 4, at the home of Mrs. Charles Beaver at 2 o'clock. Miss Cynthia Lowe and Mrs. Beaver are the hostesses. Please come prepared to sew.

Thursday evening, February 4, the D. D. G. M. of the Ulster district will visit Garfield Lodge, No. 422, I. O. O. F., at Ulster Park to install the officers for the ensuing term. Other business of importance will be acted upon at this meeting. Following the installation will be a social hour. Refreshments will be served. Every member is urged to attend this meeting.

These who will contribute fancy articles for the fancy article booth of the third annual fair and bazaar of Damon Council, Knights of Pythias, and Hope Temple, Pythian Sisters, February 9, 10, 11, 12, will kindly give them to Mrs. Edith Terwilliger, chairman of the fancy article booth.

Several people from Kingston attended the chicken supper served so faultlessly by the men of the Methodist Church, Tuesday evening in the assembly room of the church. Much credit is due Caterer John Lynn and his able assistants for serving such a delicious supper cooked to a turn. Prompt and capable service was given by the waiters.

Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their council room on Broadway.

Prayer service will be held in the assembly room of the Methodist Church Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. At 8:15 a meeting of the Sunday school board will be held.

The meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church that was to have been held today, has been postponed until next week, Wednesday afternoon, February 10, at the home of Mrs. Harry Jump on Broadway.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 3.—The forward price movement in the oils and specialties was more pronounced today, and copper metal, after standing stationary at 14 cents a pound for several months, was marked up to 14¼ cents. This stimulated a moderate rise in the copper stocks under the lead of American Smelting and Federal Smelting Preferred, the latter advancing about five points. Kennecott and Anaconda also gained a point each.

Spectacular advances were scored by a few of the high priced specialty stocks. California Packing ran up 8 points to 175 and Cast Iron Pipe made a 4 point gain. Consolidated Gas, at the head of the utilities, reached the highest price in its history under present capitalization, stimulating similar moves in Brooklyn Union Gas, Montana Power, Federal Light and Traction, Philadelphia Company, etc.

Third Avenue railroad made a new gain of 5 points at 34½ as speculative attention swung again to the traction stocks. Brooklyn Manhattan transit common sold at 64 for the first time in its history. Most of the rails and motors were quiet.

Game Taken in New York Heavy

Albany, Feb. 3.—The amount of game taken in 1923, the latest year for which complete figures are available, was larger than in any previous year with a single exception since the present system of obtaining this information was adopted by the Conservation Commission.

The most satisfactory showing is made on pheasants, the take of which has increased nearly four fold in six years, and ruffed grouse, the take of which has increased more than three fold in the same period. Since 1917, the yearly take of pheasants has increased from 35,855 to 122,403 in 1923 and the take of grouse from 41,757 in 1918 to 134,541, in 1923. Each succeeding year the take of pheasants has been larger than the preceding year showing that these birds are well established and with the natural increase, plus the output of the state's game bird farms will continue to hold their own.

More of the fur bearers showed increases in 1923 than in 1922 and the increase in muskrats exceeded the take of any year since 1919. The take of muskrats fell off rapidly from 1918 to 1921 since which date there have been slight increases but the 1923 take was still one-third less than in 1918. While in some parts of the state muskrats appear to be recovering, reports from other sections are that they are still decreasing.

The number of deer taken was 8030 which was 408 below the average take of bucks for the six years that records have been kept.

Of the 34 varieties of game and fur-bearing animals reported, twelve show increases and 22 show decreases. Increases are shown in more of the fur bearers than for the preceding year and decreases on some of the other fur bearers are smaller. A decrease of 12,855 is shown on skunks as compared with a decrease of 44,257 in 1922 as compared with 1921. The take of skunks has been decreasing steadily since 1919 except for a slight recovery in 1921 and in 1923 was only half as large as in 1918.

	1922	1923
Cottontail rabbits	681,362	635,815

Society Notes

Reese-Mealon.

C. August Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Reese of Maiden, and Miss Ruth Mealon of Bessemer, Pa., were united in marriage at Jamestown, N. Y., on January 21. The couple are spending their honeymoon at Niagara Falls. Mr. Reese is assistant chemist of the Bessemer Cement Co. at Bessemer, Pa., where they will reside.

Lowell Club.

The Lowell Club met this week with Mrs. Adams and had a very interesting afternoon. The paper on "Early Setlements in South Africa," given by Mrs. Van Leuven was informing and interesting while all present fully enjoyed the Book Review, "The Story of an African Farm," given by Mrs. Witter. Music for the afternoon consisted of a number of African spirituels played on the victrola. Next week the club members are to decide upon their course of study for next year so a full attendance at the meeting to be held with Mrs. Atkins, is urged.

Celebrate 79th Birthday.

Charles L. Marsh of Solomon's Island, Southern Maryland, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Frank W. Thompson. Today Mr. Marsh received congratulations on his seventy-ninth birthday, having been born in Esopus, seventy-nine years ago. For fifty-two years he has made his home in Maryland, and during that time he has served his adopted state as county treasurer, school commissioner and was twice sent to the state senate. Mr. Marsh is in excellent health and is still carrying on his business of operating a machine and blacksmith shop.

Monday Club.

The regular meeting of the Monday Club this week was postponed from Monday to Tuesday afternoon owing to the fact that the Monday Club members had expected to accept the invitation extended to them by the Saugerties Monday Club to meet in Saugerties on Monday afternoon with the Monday Clubs of Saugerties and Catskill. Owing to the storm the Kingston Monday Club did not go to Saugerties and did hold their meeting on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Boeve. During the business session it was voted to contribute $5 toward the working fund of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs. Considerable time was devoted to a discussion of the plan of study for next year. Next week the Monday Club will meet with Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck when Mrs. Davis will have the paper for the day. Yesterday Mrs. Boeve had the paper for the day on "Russian Life in Town and County," and made of the subject a most interesting presentation as well as a graphic one. Mrs. Lawton, the president of the club, asked that all members of the club come to the next meeting prepared to offer a working plan for next year's full program.

WORLD'S RECORD FOR DANCING CHARLESTON.

New York, Feb. 3.—A world's record for continuous dancing of that acrobatic dance, the Charleston, was being established here today.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon four contestants, all men, were wearily shuffling across the floor in a Broadway ball room, having been knocking knees since midnight.

They had been dancing 13 hours. The previous known record for an endurance Charleston is four hours and eight minutes.

Six girls and ten men entered the contest. Two girls and one man collapsed and had to undergo medical treatment.

Those still Charlestoning this afternoon ate their lunch while dancing.

Canadian Customs Officials Crooked

According to H. H. Stevens, Opposition Leader in Parliament—$11,000,000 in Wet Goods Exported Into U. S. During Past Eight Months.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 3.—Charging that the Canadian government has appointed "crooks and criminals" to customs positions and that the Dominion has consequently lost $32,000,000 in revenue, H. H. Stevens, opposition leader in Parliament, today urged a thorough investigation of the boundary situation.

Stevens asked for a special commission to investigate alleged smuggling of narcotics and liquor on the border of Quebec and the United States. He said that a great variety of goods was smuggled into Canada in exchange for the liquor going south.

Describing the illegal traffic, Stevens said a former government official in Montreal was guilty of gross irregularities and that he owned a farm which extended on both sides of the boundary and was used as a great base of smuggling operators. He also charged that Ernest La Point, minister of justice, either neglected his duty in combating the situation, or has been too innocent to occupy a responsible office.

Stevens censured the government for "breaking faith with the United States" in that "no serious attempt has been made to keep the pact made two years ago," to keep "wet goods" out of the United States.

A report just issued shows that beer, ale and hard liquor valued at $11,000,000 was legally exported out of Canada for illicit entry into the United States in the past eight months.

Clarks Sell Farm.

Alexander T. S. Clarke has sold his farm on the Rifton road to Paul and Romaine Briand of Dobbs Ferry. The Clarkes have owned this farm for twenty years, occupying it as a home. The new owners are planning to make extensive improvements to the grounds and develop a nursery of ornamental and fruit trees. The Briands have inspected a large number of properties in the Hudson river valley in company with a soil expert, Mr. Audevard, and have finally selected this property finding it best adapted to their purpose. The sale was consumated through the agency of Nathaniel B. Gross, real estate broker of No. 309 Wall street.

New Paltz Dutch Arms Entertains

Speakers Include World and Spanish War Veterans and Judge Fowler Who Says Most Juvenile Delinquency is Due to Thoughtlessness.

The New Paltz Dutch Arms held a monthly evening meeting Tuesday night in the Reformed Church at which 132 men were present and the justly celebrated New Paltz hospitality was dispensed. The Dutch Arms Orchestra, which is even better than when it visited Kingston a year ago, played a number of selections and there was chorus singing and duets by Jay LeFevre and Kenneth Snyder. The meeting was opened by President Edgar V. Beebe who, after the preliminary business had been transacted, turned it over to Peter Harp, the toastmaster of the evening.

Arnold Petersen, late sergeant in the A. E. F. and holder of a citation signed by President Wilson, was the first speaker. It was the sergeant's first public speech and considerable persuasion had been used to get him to speak. In plain, easy conversational manner he told of one day and night at the front in October, 1918, experienced by his company that had gone into line a month earlier with 240 men and came out at the day described with two commissioned officers, two non-commissioned officers and 13 men. Simply and without the slightest taint of heroics, frequently telling how scared he was, Sergeant Petersen told of scout and patrol duty, lying in a shallow depression while placing markers on the company front with three machine guns trained on him, going forward with a bomb in each hand and hurling them into a German position, meanwhile dodging a German bomb that was thrown at him, and presenting a thrilling picture of a day on the front line, in No Man's Land and in an untenable position from which the Germans had been driven, surrounded by German forces and unable to communicate with American forces.

J. J. Demskie, veteran of the Spanish War and the Philippine War, former chief of scouts in the Philippines, read an original poem descriptive of an actual occurrence, a Civil War veteran dying in his chair while reviewing a Memorial Day parade.

After refreshments and music, A. W. Hoffman of Kingston talked on "Elephants" and Judge Fowler gave an interesting address on his experience with and views on probation and the children's court. The judge argued that no great number of young persons are bad at heart and that most youthful delinquency is due to thoughtlessness. The young folks of today are no worse than their elders and no worse than the young folks of 25 years ago, but they are more advanced. That is the mental state, the thoughts and the desires of a boy or girl of 15 today are about the same as those of a boy or girl of 18 were 25 years ago. Probation is a warning and a control and gives opportunity for thought and improvement.

There are various ideas of punishment, its nature and purpose, Judge Fowler said. Some consider punishment mainly as vengeance. Others think of it only as corrective. Others as preventive and still others as remedial. One mother may correct a small child by spanking it. Another mother may keep it from mischief by placing it inside a railing. There is the argument that punishment must be given in order to impress others—as a deterrent. The mere fact of getting caught, even though severe punishment is not given, is a deterrent to others.

Judge Fowler considered a great evil of the times to be the tendency to chafe under authority, to break laws that we do not approve of, to resent regulation by the law, in the school, by the employer.

With a few words from the toastmaster, a vote of thanks to the speakers and a selection by the orchestra the program closed somewhat after 11 o'clock.

Theatre Co. Takes Lazarus Property

By a deed filed for record with the Ulster county clerk on Tuesday, Harry Lazarus and his wife, Dessa M. Lazarus, convey to the Kingston Theater Corporation the property which consists of a number of buildings and parcels of land on Broadway and also fronting on Cedar street. The properties were formerly owned by Peter A. Burns of Poughkeepsie, John T. Cahill and others. A certificate of incorporation of the Kingston Theater Corporation formed for the purpose of building a theater and conducting amusement enterprises, was filed with the Ulster county clerk on June 11, 1925. The stockholders and directors of record named were Harry Lazarus and Dessa M. Lazarus of 42 Linderman avenue, Kingston, and Reuben M. Lazarus of 62 South Main avenue, Albany. The capital stock was stated to be 5,300 shares, of which 2,500 were to be of par value of $100 each and 2,800 without a par value. John W. Eckert is attorney for the corporation.

CORNELL HOSE COMPANY ENJOYS BANQUET.

At a banquet held by Cornell Hose Company at their rooms on Abeel street Tuesday evening, seventy-five members and their guests partook of a delicious feast which was served by George Camp, caterer. Mark Bachareh, president of the company, presided as toastmaster and in his usual witty manner called upon the following for speeches. Mayor Morris Block, Fire Chief Joseph Murphy, Daniel Healey, James Costello and William Canty. They were also entertained by several vaudeville acts. Music was furnished by Cornell Hose orchestra.

Local Minstrels Score Success

Presentation by Y. M. and Y. W. H. A. at Orpheum Theater Delighted Large Audience Tuesday Night—Performance Will be Repeated Tonight.

A success exceeding the hopes of the most optimistic greeted the opening performance of the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A. minstrels at the Orpheum Theater Tuesday night. Playing to a capacity house the show was put over in flawless style and was well received by the audience. Every number on the program was encored and several of the feature performers were forced to respond time and time again to the hearty applause.

From the opening number by the entire chorus to the grand finale the end men kept the house in one continuous round of laughter with their snappy jokes and humorous stories. One of the main attractions of the evening was the splendid singing of the chorus. Made up of 35 male and female voices their strong volume and richness of tone took the house by storm. All attired in special costumes, the minstrel company presented a pretty picture against a stage background built expressly for the "Come and See Min" show.

The production was run off in easy manner and showed marked results of the strenuous two months of training under David Long, well known in this city for his many successes in the line of musical comedies. By virtue of Tuesday night's performance he gained added esteem as the show was one of the most brilliant of all his successes.

A Charleston baby dance specialty by Joe Lurie and his partner proved one of the biggest hits of the evening. One of the best dancers in the city, Mr. Lurie gave a splendid exhibition of the latest dancing craze, ably assisted by his partner. Five times they had to display their ability before the audience who encored them over and over again. Another number which went over big was the "Bally Ho Bay" song by Miss "Do-Ray" Koplovitz, one of the female ends.

The same show which proved so successful in its first performance will be given again tonight in its entirety at the Orpheum Theater. This will be the last performance of the minstrel in this city, but the management stated Tuesday night that they had received requests from brotherorganizations in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh to have the show staged there.

Doors will be opened tonight at 7:30 and the program will commence at 8:15. Because of the local fire regulations many people were denied admittance Tuesday night when all the available seats had been taken and for this reason another capacity crowd is anticipated tonight.

Dybwaid's Crew Of 25 Saved

New York, Feb 3.—Although the stormy Atlantic was still pounding away today at a half dozen ships still in danger, the rescue of the 25 men on board the Norwegian freighter Johanne Dybwaid had been accomplished.

The Belgian liner Arnineo wirelessed that she had successfully taken the Dybwaid's crew aboard before the Norse boat sank about 700 miles east of Halifax. In the same latitude that the Laristan went down with more than a score on board last week.

This rescue brings the total of lives saved by such daring feats during the present storm to 93.

The White Star Liner Baltic has arrived here and the Olympic is due tonight.

No Cases For Zoning Board.

The zoning board of appeals met at the common council chamber on Tuesday. There being no cases on the docket, the board adjourned to the next regular meeting day, the first Tuesday of March.

Fermenting Food

Due to impaired digestion is a distressing and dangerous ailment. Aside from the bodily suffering it entails, the sour, fermenting mass in the stomach creates poisonous gases and secretions, which vitiate the blood and infect the system, often resulting in septic poisoning or auto-intoxication.

Charity Ball Lincoln's Night

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the Knights of Columbus charity ball to be held at the Armory Lincoln's Night, February 12, have secured for this occasion two of the best known orchestras in the state. The Imperial Broadcasting Orchestra of Kingston, and the Domino Entertainers of Poughkeepsie, including the Apex Quartet, known also as the Novelty Dance Fiends. The concert will begin promptly at 8 o'clock followed by five high class vaudeville acts from New York circuits, after which dancing will be continuous for the rest of the evening. The decorations in the armory will far excel anything attempted in the past, and arrangements are being made to accommodate a large number of guests than ever before.

BoyScoutsNeeded Says Judge Fowler

Necessity of Such Organization Impressed on Him by Experiences in Juvenile Court and He Will Gladly Help in Campaign.

The following letter explains itself:

Children's Court of Ulster County
Judge's Chambers
Kingston, N. Y.
Joseph M. Fowler, Judge.
Robert J. Service,
Probation Officer.
Feb. 2, 1926.

Mr. Elva H. Bogart,
Chairman Boy Scout Campaign Committee.
My dear Bogart:

I have your note asking me to serve on your committee and I will be very glad to do anything I can, for I thoroughly believe that there is a real need for a Boy Scout organization in every community.

My work in the Juvenile court, and with boys, has shown me two things.

First: Boys are by nature essentially gregarious, they have a natural tendency to flock together, to have their gangs. There are bad gangs but there are also good gangs, but gangs there must be. The boy who goes from his home to school or to work and returns directly from school or work to his home and stays there will probably keep out of trouble but he will be mighty lonesome and will miss much that every boy has a right to expect out of his boy life. The father has his clubs, his lodges or other means of associating with his friends and in these latter days his mother is quite likely to have her organizations for companionship.

Second: Boys, as a rule, do not get into trouble because they are at heart bad or because they intend so to do but because they have not mature judgment and do not weigh consequences, but think only of the sport and excitement of the moment.

The answer therefore is obvious: A parent should either make himself one of the gang to which his boy trains, or he should see to it that the gang in which his boy travels is steered along lines of lawful and decent activities. Not many parents are able to do the former but all can do the latter by standing for Boy Scout organizations.

To the man who is not a parent of a boy or a boy of Scout age, I would say that such is a misfortune which does not lessen your responsibility but on the contrary your duty to the community is by that fact the greater and this duty can only be met by helping to make good citizens of other men's boys.

Finally: it may be of interest to know that out of the scores of boys who have been in my court during the past years only two have been Scouts and those two not for serious offences and neither came back.

Please count on any help I can give you in the campaign.

Cordially yours.
JOS. M. FOWLER.

Home Bureau At Wawarsing

A community meeting of unusual interest will be held in Wawarsing chapel this evening, beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Prof. B. A. Adams, poet and specialist in vegetable gardening from Cornell, will be there to tell all about "greens and vitamiens." Prof. Adams has come to Ulster county at the request of the Ulster County Home Bureau to assist the people of this county in the growing of more and better gardens this year. Selections of varieties and strains of seed to be used, home production of vegetable seed, improved methods of plant growing, assistance in erection of hot beds and cold frames—all these are the problems that confront everyone who contemplate putting out a garden. Prof. Adams will be at the Wawarsing meeting to give a general discussion of such problems and to give assistance to anyone desiring information along these lines. More vegetables must be grown and stored for winter consumption if health standards for the twelve months of the year are to be kept up to average standards for the summer months.

But there is more in store for the people of Wawarsing Wednesday evening. Miss Evelyn Nance, Ulster County Home Bureau manager, is to be there with a set of slides and will give an illustrated talk on "Food Makes a Difference." These pictures have been shown in a number of communities and in many cases requests for a return engagement have come in. It will be impossible to show these slides twice in all communities, so all in Wawarsing and surrounding community should arrange to get out Wednesday evening, if possible.

NEW FURNACE FOR ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Parishioners and friends of St. John's Church will be glad to learn that the unfortunate condition lately noticed is to be remedied at once. A new furnace has been ordered and will be installed this week, so that Sunday services will not be interrupted, the new furnace to be ready for use by Sunday. Owing to the work now being done, the Thursday service this week will have to be omitted.

Industrial Home Officers Chosen

Some of Its Work Outlined in Report of Secretary—What Some of the Children Who Have Gone from the Home Have Done.

The forty-ninth annual meeting of the trustees and managers of the Industrial Home was held January 25. The following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year:

Honorary president, Miss Mary Van Leuven; president, Mrs. Philip Elting; first vice-president, Mrs. C. D. B. Hasbrouck; second vice-president, Mrs. F. R. Powley; recording secretary, Mrs. William H. Van Etten; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry R. DeWitt; treasurer, Mrs. George Washburn.

Managers: Mrs. H. R. Brigham, Mrs. Williams Carter, Mrs. H. R. DeWitt, Mrs. Philip Elting, Mrs. John Forsyth, Mrs. M. H. Herzog, Mrs. C. D. B. Hasbrouck, Mrs. F. R. Powley, Mrs. R. S. Rodie, Mrs. J. G. Van Etten, Mrs. William H. Van Etten, Miss Mary Van Leuven, Mrs. V. B. Van Wagonen, Mrs. George Washburn, Mrs. F. W. Warren, Mrs. S. M. Watts.

The Industrial Home has already entered upon its fiftieth year of work which has but one aim—providing for little children who need a home.

As we come together for this annual meeting, we miss a trustee who was always present, Mr. J. Graham Rose. He was deeply interested in the work, a man of excellent judgment, ready at any time to be of service, and we realize that in his death the Industrial Home has met with a great loss. But the good work will go on, for its foundations were solidly laid by the founder, Miss M. I. Forsyth and her associates.

After eight years of faithful service, Miss M. A. Russell, our superintendent, resigned to go into business elsewhere. Her resignation was received with regret, and the position has been filled by Miss Elizabeth Baker who came to us last September.

No serious illness has occurred among the children. Minor ailments, however, have called for many visits from the Medical Staff, and we are very grateful for the time and care given to our little ones, "without money and without price." The report of the Medical Staff is as follows:

Operations for tonsils and adenoids	5
Operations for mastoiditis	1
Pertussis	4
Bronchitis	3
Chicken pox	7
Mumps	12
Tonsilitis	3
Incubation for scarlet fever	5
Gastritis	5
Croup	2
Fitted with glasses	2
Extracting teeth	8
Filling teeth	85
Radium treatment for enlarged glands	1
Toxin anti toxin	17
January 1, 1925, children in Home	37
Received during 1925	19
	56
Returned to parents or guardians	24
Returned to committing officer	1
	25
January 1, 1926, children in Home	31

We have had a good year financially. We have been able to make needed repairs and have also paid the mortgage on our hospital, so that the Home is now free from all encumbrance. This was made possible by the kindness of the Kingston Shriners' Association, churches, societies, lodges, schools and individuals, mentioned elsewhere in our report, and to all we would express our gratitude, many times over.

Beyond all else is the pleasure we receive when we hear good reports of children who have been sent out by us.

Miss S———, a former matron, received a letter from a young woman who recently married one of our boys. She said she felt impelled to write because her husband so often spoke of Miss S———, feeling that he owed so much to her care while he was in the Home. At Christmas time, Miss S——— received a fine gift from them. He is now an interior decorator in a large western city.

Miss C———, another former matron, keeps in touch with one of our girls whom we placed in the western part of this state. She is now a widow in comfortable circumstances. Her foster-mother is old and feeble, and this young woman has gone back to care for the woman who gave her a home.

Truly, this is "bread cast upon the waters, returning after many days." Instances like these show that God's blessing has been bestowed upon our work.

SARA S. BRIGHAM.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

At the Keeney Theatre this evening Richard Dix is the Indian hero of "The Vanishing American" while Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Malcolm McGregor complete the list of featured players. Ten thousand Indians appear in the picture which consumed six months in the making, four of them on the Navajo Indian reservation.

A bevy of beauties. That is one of the attractions of "Sally, Irene and Mary," the Edmund Goulding production now at the Opera House for the last times tonight. "Sally, Irene and Mary" reveals the lives of three stage favorites and how misadventure in love happening to all three make Mary realize what a jewel she has in her pearly reputed sweetheart, Jimmie Dunn, an East Side plumber.

Bebe Daniels in "The Manicure Girl" will be screened at the Auditorium Theatre this evening. This is a story of a fellow and girl plugging along day in and day out until their troubles come to an end.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT FRIDAY

Friday evening at the Rondout Presbyterian Church the Hustler Class of the Sunday school will present Al Baker and Danny Dennis of New York city. Mr. Baker is a very clever magician and ventriloquist and is a popular lyceum entertainer. A very pleasant evening's entertainment is assured all who attend. Those who have not already purchased tickets can obtain same at the door Friday evening. The general public is cordially invited.
